

MORRILL

Is a man who, evidently isn't afraid to say what he believes, even though it may not be the most popular thing in the world to say. Most people say at times what they ought not to say, particularly when they are so unfortunate as to be caught out in a storm without a rubber coat or Macintosh. To be a man should guard against all such contingencies. Remember this is a wet moon and the Rochester weather prophet has predicted further precipitation. You cannot afford to ruin a good suit of clothes and your chances of playing on a golden harp in the hereafter for the paltry price of a rubber coat or Macintosh.

SUSPENDS A PAPER.

Judge Hazen Stops the Publication of the "Ottawa Journal"

BY THE STATE PRINTING OFFICE.

It May Be Published Independently by Ed Snow, but the Court Will Not Allow Its Expenses to Come Out of the State Printing Plant.

In the district court today Judge Hazen, on the application of Receiver Hubbard of the Hamilton Printing company, ordered that the publication of E. H. Snow's Populist organ, the "Ottawa Journal," must be suspended. It is said that the paper has been published at an expense of over $500 a month to the plant.

Judge Hazen said he had investigated the management of the paper and found that although an edition of 6,000 copies is printed weekly, there are less than 500 paid subscribers, although from 5,000 to 6,000 papers are sent out every week. The expense of getting out the paper is more than $100 a week. The press-work costs at least $50, he pays his editor $30, and the expense of other employees, including the associate editor, mailing clerks, and others, is quite heavy. "I have examined the paper carefully, and I find that it is made up almost wholly of clippings. Under these circumstances this court does not feel justified in continuing the publication of the paper at the expense of the plant, so it is ordered that its publication be suspended."

For the time, at least, it is said, the paper will be printed independent of the State publishing plant. The Topeka edition was brought to Topeka a year ago for campaign purposes. The original Ottawa Journal, published in Ottawa, it is said, has been leased to other parties.

POKER GAME RAIDED.

The Police Catch Three Young Men Who Were Using Matches for Chips.

The police raided a poker game Saturday night, the second one since the Cubison law went into effect.

The game was in the little house on the alley on the west side of Monroe street between Fifth and Sixth.

The officers expected to find a larger game than they did, but it is learned that two of the players left just before the raid.

Officers Wellman, Washburn and Galace engineered the event, and they captured only three of the players. They are D. L. Smith, William Newton and William Hall. At least these are their "non de plumes."

The young men were using matches for poker chips. At the city prison they put up $10 each for their appearance in court today, which they forfeited.

The place is operated by an employee at a Quincy street livery stable.

LOST HIS TEMPER.

Exasperated by an Argument With Oscar Swazy, Mr. Gallen Said Too Much. To the Editor of the State Journal.

Oscar K. Swazy and George R. Gallen have been involved in a common every day argument about something of a trifling nature at first, but which waxed into wrath later on, as both men became angry, and Gallen indulged in some very uncomplimentary remarks about our nation's flag, "Old Glory."

Gallen has lived in Topeka for about six years, and has hitherto borne the reputation of acting the part of an average citizen. He is industrious, and is supporting himself and wife by his profession that of a railroad clerk, and the writer is inclined to the belief that he did not intentionally mean to insult "our brave grand army veterans" by calling the flag "an old dirty rag." No sane minded man could dare say such words and expect to live happily in this country. "Gallen" is a well posted man on almost every subject, and is certainly too intelligent to even think such sentiments to say nothing about expressing them publicly. For humanity sake, I trust that an apology from George R. Gallen to the G. A. R. will be accepted, and the matter dropped out of history.

THE DAISY FIELD.

The Gates Locked and Visitors Denied Admittance.

Many Topeka people, in accordance with an annual custom about this season of the year, yesterday drove out to the Daisy field southwest of the city. They found the gates padlocked and notices posted to the effect that trespassers would be prosecuted. Another notice said, "Those wishing daisies please call at the house." Those who called were told the visits of Topekans to the field had become a great annoyance to the owner; that gates had been left open and horses had escaped from the field and so much trouble caused that no one would be permitted in the field again and that the daisies would be plowed up this week.

Those who were willing to pay for the flowers got them yesterday, but were not permitted to pick them. One of the adjoining farms has a less quantity of the daisies, and it is said they will be allowed to bloom and blush for all who love the "ox-eyes."

JANITORS ALL CAME IN

To See Secretary Edwards at His Request and Modified Their Bill.

At the recent meeting of the State Medical association the state house janitors presented a bill for $50 for caring for Representative hall.

Dr. M. D. Ward, to whom the bill was presented, thought the charge was rather excessive and protested. One of the janitors got mad and used bad language, which was resented, and resulted in the entire janitor force being marched up before Secretary of State Edwards, who is custodian of the building under the direction of the executive council. Secretary Edwards talked to the janitors, and the doctors instead of paying a $50 bill for cleaning Representative hall paid the janitors $10, or $2 a piece.

Unparalleled in History.

C. N. Brainard, superintendent Deaf and Dumb asylum, New York, writes: "I have reached the conclusion that no movement looking to the amelioration of the race has been so potent for good in the restoration of men and women from the curse of intemperance as its various forms, as the treatment inaugurated by Dr. Keeley. Its success has been not only phenomenal, but unparalleled in history."

The Keeley Institutes of Topeka and Kansas City, Kan., employ Dr. Keeley's gold remedies exclusively.

The STATE JOURNAL's Want and Miscellaneous columns reach each working day in the week more than twice as many Topeka people as can be reached through any other paper. This is a fact.

"PROPOSED" BY PROXY.

Pegleg II Offered to Pay Pearl Goodwin's Fine if She Would Marry.

Pearl Goodwin, one of the girls who is working out a fine for being found at a place where she shouldn't have been, received a proposal of marriage by proxy Saturday night.

The proposal was from a young man who runs a cider joint on lower Kansas avenue, who is commonly known as "Pegleg the Second," to distinguish him from "Pegleg" McLaugherty and half a dozen other "pegs."

The young man's real name isn't known.

Pegleg II was too bashful to go to Pearl and tell her in the presence of the policemen about the pangs of affection that tugged at his heart-strings, so he got a friend, a red haired boy with lots of nerve, to go to Pearl and propose for him. He authorized the boy to say that if she would become Mrs. Pegleg II, that he would pay her fine.

The young man went to the police headquarters, but Night Jailer Hopkins denied him admission until he told his mission with Pearl. When informed that it was an affair of the heart Hopkins unlocked the door to the "ladies'" apartment and stood in the door while the boy delivered his message. He found Pearl reading a "Fireside Companion." The boy did his part well, and Pearl listened patiently with a suspicion of scorn about her mouth.

When he had finished Pearl threw up both her hands and exclaimed,

"Great Heavens. How in can I support that—when I'm having a—of a time supporting myself?"

The proposal was rejected.

FARMER HEIL'S SHOT-GUN.

He Used It to Prevent Constable Williams From Attaching His Stock.

When Deputy Sheriffs Tom Wilkerson and Dan Jones went out to Valentine Heil's farm, 12 miles southeast of Topeka, Saturday they expected to have trouble—didn't know but there might be some shooting.

Constable Williams, of Justice Furry's court, had gone to the same place the day before to serve an attachment; and Farmer Heil took down a shot-gun and told Mr. Williams to "git."

"Went away." The attachment was only for $197, and Williams said he didn't want to shoot a man for so small an amount.

The attachment was then placed in the hands of the sheriff and deputies Wilkerson and Jones did not need instructions not to be bluffed. They buckled on their revolvers with the determination to execute the writ at all hazards, and in case there was any shooting that they would be the shooters rather than the shootees.

They expected almost anything from the stories Williams had told. But fortunately when they arrived at the Heil farm old Valentine Heil was not at home. His wife was there, but she made no resistance. The officers took the three best horses on the ranch, tied them to their wagon and drove home. The horses are held at Culp's stable. The debt on which the attachment was issued is for $197.81 in favor of B. Hale, together with costs that are quite heavy.

WANTS TO SEE THE JAIL.

"Smut" Smith May Have a Chance to Examine the Penitentiary.

Charles Smith, the colored boy better known as "Smut," who is in jail awaiting trial for stealing harness from H. C. Lindsey, is likely to have one of his wishes gratified. "Smut" was one of the colored boys who went on the excursion to Leavenworth a week ago. When the train passed Lansing "Smut" displayed a great deal of curiosity to see the state penitentiary. The sight from the window was obstructed so he went out to the platform and watched for the big prison. He was greatly disappointed because only one of the smoke stacks of the penitentiary could be seen from the train.

It seems quite probable now that "Smut" will have an opportunity to study the architectural design of the state penitentiary at leisure.

Collections Are Hard, so they say.

But our collection of Suits for men and boys is an exceptional one in more ways than one; first—in exclusiveness of styles; second—in vastness of assortment; third—in littleness of price, and fourth—in conscientiousness of workmanship. Others may attempt to equal our lines, but comparison will show the hollowness of their claims. Our Men's Suits at $5, $6, $7.50, $8 and $10 represent more style, worth and saving than you have ever encountered before. A careful comparison will thoroughly convince you that we are absolutely correct in our statement.
